Excerpt: . . . to pay taxes until such time as the owner can sell his ground at a figure which he considers satisfactory. . . . The civil war brought a large influx of Negroes: It is estimated that from 80, 000 to 40, 000 Negroes from neighboring States came to this city at that time. These unfortunate and ignorant people were obliged to avail themselves of any kind of shelter they could find. In many cases rough board shacks with leaky roofs were occupied for years by growing families, and rents were paid out of all proportion to the value of the property or the means of the tenant. Industrious colored men, whose labor would only command from a dollar to a dollar and a half a day, and hardworking colored women, whose lives had been spent over the washtub, have been obliged to pay, year after...
